The President's Notes

Lou Haynes (bdhaynes@one.net)

The Banquet was a great success again this year even though we had to change the date due to the March snowstorm. I want to thank all of you who came to support the club with your attendance and also all who donated items for the raffles. Many prizes and trips were donated by outside organizations and guide services. Be sure to support these groups as their donations are very important to the success of our club. Without them, we could not meet the financial needs required to do all the things that makes BUFF so great!

A big thank you also goes to our Banquet chairmen, Jim Boude and Bill Huber, and all their helpers who did a super job organizing the event. Jim reported that this years' attendance was 172 and net profits were about $7000. That's great! Be sure to visit the club website to view the pictures taken at the banquet by Dave French.

Bob Miller is putting together a questionnaire to find out what members liked and disliked about this years' banquet. He is also including some questions directed to those of you who did not attend to find out the main reasons why. Please take the time to respond to the survey. The results are very important as we plan next years' event.

Congratulations to Mike Bryant, George Fraley, Bob Mackey and Dave French. Mike was awarded a lifetime BUFF membership. During his 10+ years with the club he has served as BUFFER editor (2 yrs.), Fly Fishing Show chairman (8 yrs.) and club president (3 terms). George received the 2007 Board of Directors award for his outstanding work as the club treasurer. During the past 2 years George has computerized our financial records. This undertaking has greatly simplified setting the yearly budget and provided clarity to monthly financial statements. Bob and Dave were honored with "Fly Fisher of the Year" awards for their outstanding service to the club. All well deserved recipients!

May Meeting Program

If you've ever read Kentucky Afield, then you are familiar with Lee McClellan's writings. Lee is a writer/editor/information specialist with the Kentucky Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources. Lee is an avid sport fisherman and has written extensively on fishing the lakes and streams of Kentucky. Many of us in BUFF are avid bass fishers and the stream we are most familiar with is Elkhorn Creek. It would be worth while to learn about other fishing opportunities in Kentucky and Lee McClellan is just the person to do it. He'll have stories to tell, pictures to share and advice on flies. He will also give us pointers on that age-old challenge of stream access. Please join us for what should be an outstanding program.

The Board of Directors has voted to move the annual July Swap meet from the Morrow Campgrounds to the Loveland Isaac Walton League facilities. This new site is much closer to the area and, hopefully, will increase attendance at our July outdoor meeting. Details and directions will come later.

Just a reminder that the membership will be voting on the proposed by-law changes at the May meeting. A summary of the changes is posted on the club website and is included in the April BUFFER.

The club has a lot of activities scheduled for the next few months. Take advantage of some of these: sign-up for a trip, volunteer to help at one of our educational events, or take one of the classes offered by the club. From experience, the best way to have fun, learn about this sport and meet new fishing pals is to get involved in some of these activities.

Ladies on the Laurel River Trip

If the number of good meals, amusing stories and bottles in the recycling bin outnumber fish caught, is it a successful fishing trip? If you ask those who went to Hot Springs, North Carolina (near Asheville) late in March to trout fish on the Laurel River, they would answer a resounding YES!

Six BUFF members, Sharon Bailey, Carol Barton, Pat Hider, Patti Howell, Ruth McCormack, and Nancy Meyrose went with guides from Curtis Wright Outfitters (Jeff Curtis was our guest speaker at the March meeting). Although our catch will not break any records, we all became familiar with what it's like to fish in the chilly waters of western North Carolina. The guides were knowledgeable and the newer members agreed they learned a lot not only from them, but also from the more experienced members who went. There's no better teacher, we found out, than actually getting one's feet wet and taking advice from knowledgeable vets.

We caught brook, brown, and rainbow trout on stone fly nymphs, wooly buggers, rubber leg prince nymphs, Y2K, and royal wulff stimulator.

Trip coordinator Steve Bailey, who also occasionally shadowed his wife and the rest of the group, expertly planned the trip. Thanks, Steve! There's nothing like having your own police chief right down the road!

Patti Howell, who arranged for our accommodations, not only made the trip, but she took a trip – right on the rock steps of the house where we stayed. She braved fishing the first day, but enjoyed quiet time for the rest of the outing. We are happy to say her sprained ankle is mending well. Thanks, Patti, for arranging accommodations – the Mountain Magnolia Bed and Breakfast Garden House was perfect!

Spring Steelhead Trip 2008

Steve Walker

As punishment for catching a few fish, I was selected (railroaded) to write up our recent steelhead trip to northern Ohio. The trip was from April 3 through April 6 and was led by Tom Herr. We used the Pine Lake Trout Club as our base of operation and lodging.

Dave French, Jim Hampton and I left at 4:00am on the 3rd to beat everyone up there only to find five car loads had already arrived ahead of us. Tom Herr, who was going to leave a 6 am, was already standing on the dock of the main lake catching trout.

Over all about 25 people showed up for the trip. The afternoon of the 3rd, many of us went to the Chagrin River in search of steelhead.

Tom Warren, a steelhead rookie, learned one of his lessons early, that being, don't let Roger Corrado and Donn Rubingh know where you're catching fish. I think Tom said something about being 'squeezed out' by his friends in their attempt to show him the ropes. I also got to see Jim Hampton quickly wade to the bank and then run down river. I thought he had a nice fish on and I was setting up to help him when I saw he was just chasing his hat that had blown off and was floating away. Several nice fish were landed that day.

That night and Friday, the 4th, it rained. We drove to a couple of spots in the morning, but saw that it was all blown out, so we went back and fished Pine Lake. I think everyone caught fish, that day, especially Bruce James. Bruce camped out at the falls beside the lounge and caught every fish in there at least twice. Everybody that went by on the lounge deck would strike up a conversation with Bruce which would prompt him to catch another trout. I know Tom Herr was having an informal contest with someone, I didn't catch who, for the most fish caught. I didn't hear who won but the last number I heard was 22.

Friday night we a great dinner in the restaurant at the Trout Club. From the noise we made I would say a good time was had by all.

Saturday morning after breakfast we broke up into a couple of groups to search for someplace to fish. It had not rained the night before but we were all very doubtful that we would be able to find someplace. Jim Hampton suggested that we go to some tritirates as they tend to go down faster than the main rivers and streams. We found one and set out to fish.

My fishing day started out with Tom Herr, Mr. Bass Pro, asking 'me' for a strike indicator because he was all out. Who would have thought? Steve Alexander and I wound up fishing pretty close to the parking lot and almost everyone vanished except for Paul Feldman, who was just up stream. As soon as I hooked into my first steelhead, Steve and I realized that neither of us had a net. I told him that I had what could be a hand net in my pocket. As he used it to tail my fish, he wound up with my top fly stuck in his thumb. I was really concerned that he would hang on to my fish and that I would get both of my flies back. He hung on just fine and didn't complain very much. We fished there another half hour or so and then I gave up my spot to take a break and look around.

About noon I found about eight of our guys a half mile or so up river. They were lined up twenty feet apart fishing up against about a thirty foot high rock bank in three feet of water. I went the furthest up river to where Tom Herr was fishing and fished just up from him, under a bridge, and got nothing. I got out of the water after a while, and took a break. I then fell in line at the furthest down river spot, apparently the least desirable, which was open when I first got there and no one wanted. It was smooth water to my right and then rough water to my left. As I was getting my feel of the spot I saw a strike indicator go floating by that looked just like the one I had given Tom Herr earlier in the day. I yelled up to Tom, who was about seven guys up river from me, if he had just lost the strike indicator I had given him. He yelled back “no, I lost that one hours ago.” Hummm. Pretty soon I was hooked up and had quite a fight with what wound up to be a 26 inch steelhead. I appreciated all the cheering and encouragement from the guys as I was fighting my fish. After beaching my fish and getting my picture taken with it, I released it and watched it go. I retook my spot, the one no one else wanted, and started back fishing. About four casts later I was hooked up again, and the guys were again cheering, although not quite as enthusiastically. Another nice fish got his picture taken and I got back to fishing in the bad spot. Two casts later and it was fish on again. As I fought this fish I listened for the cheers but they didn’t come. Instead, it sounded more like grumbling. This happened a couple more times on a couple more fish. If those guys would have been catching fish I guess they wouldn’t have had so much time to grumble. What a good bad spot that was! Donn Rubingh had managed to slide in to the left of me, in a worst spot, and was also hooking up, but he didn’t seem to get the grumbling that I did. I gave up my spot, the one no one wanted, and called it a trip. Tom told me later that after I left he and Bruce James moved up into my bad spot. Tom caught a thirty incher and Bruce caught fish also.

Dave, Jim and I left early Sunday morning so I could be back in town by 1:00pm. It was another steelhead trip of iffy weather, rain, time in the car looking for a place to wade, some fish, some good food, and a good time with friends.

I’m hoping Tom puts one of the pictures of me and my fish up in the Fly Shop.

BUFF and VETS TYING and TALKING

T B & V T

On Monday March 24th nine BUFF members went to tie flies and talk with the Vets at the VA Medical Center. We received a letter and a card thanking BUFF for tying and talking with the Vets.

The letter was from Tracy Butts, Chief Voluntary Services. The letter follows.

“Dear Mr. Haynes,

I want to sincerely thank you and your members for visiting with patients and teaching them the art of “fly fishing”. This was certainly a hit with the patients and they look forward to your next visit.

Be assured the staff as well as our patients acknowledge your thoughtfulness. Again, thank you for your kindness and support

Sincerely

Tracy Butts’

The hand written card was signed by the Vets who tied and talked with us. The card follows.

“We had a great time learning how to tie flies. Everybody in your group was very friendly and we loved to hear the stories and share some conversation with all of you. Thanks for taking the time to visit us at the VA Medical Center.

If you would like to participate in this worthy out reach by BUFF, see the information bellow.

Our next tying session with the Vets at the VA Medical Center will be Monday April 28th at 5:30 PM. If you can help tie, please call or email Dave Jones.

Mark your calendars for the next two sessions. The dates are May 19th and June 30.

Learning about Education

Donn Rubingh

Yesterday, April 25, was a gorgeous day at Parky's farm. Both the fish and the kids who fished were eager, even rambunctious. Practically everyone caught jumbo bluegill, and usually within about 30 seconds of dropping the bait into the water. I think many new fishermen and fisherwomen got started yesterday, and maybe even some new BUFF members were recruited-for about 20 years down the road.

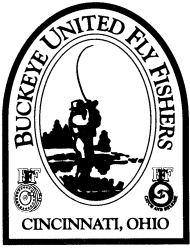

This was our third Friday at Parky's and the fishing and attendance (kids not members) has been steadily increasing. Thanks to the many BUFFERS who have helped, and particularly Lee Chambers for taking a leadership role. Parky's will continue through May 23rd so if you have an open Friday, show up between 10 AM and 2 PM and join the fun.

Teaching casting and fly tying to Indian Hill High Schoolers (Scholars?) was another event that BUFF members helped with this month. Although not as openly enthusiastic as the younger crowd at Parky's, these older "kids" were obviously pleased to see a wooly worm emerge from some yarn and feathers or experience the satisfaction of a good cast. I want to thank our casting instructors Tom Scheer, Patti Howell, and Steve Lily and our tying instructors Roger and Carol Barton, Bill Schobel, and Lee Chambers. Without your help Roger Corrado and I would not be able to say "yes" to enquiries for fly-fishing education.

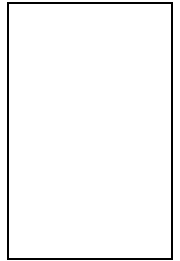

We have three events on the calendar. The first, on July 12, is a "Women in the Outdoors" program at the Southwest Ohio Conservation Club. BUFF members will teach tying and casting and then help the ladies use these new skills to catch a fish at the club pond. The second, just a week later (July 19), we have agreed to teach casting and help with fishing at the "Sporting Women" event at Eastern Hills Rod and Gun Club. Finally, we have again signed up to participate in the Great Outdoors Weekend on September 27. More on that later.

Why not reserve for yourself a fishing day at one of the local ponds and help the club out at the same time? If interested, call Donn Rubingh (513-385-3943) or email drubingh@fuse.net. I'll bet you qualify and will have a good time. By the way if you do decide to catch a bass at Parky's check with Jim Hampton on his "bass fly"
